11-6665 1343 POLICE, SUSPICIOUS ACTIVITY Services Rendered

A resident came into the station and asked if anyone had filed complaints about her and stated that she would like copies of those complaints. After asking a few questions it was determined that she was actually here regarding suspicious activity she has been experiencing. She stated that for many years now she has been having "people following" her. I asked her a number of questions to determine exactly what was going on. It seems that most of what she is talking about concerns other vehicles racing up fast behind her with their lights on (marker lights, head lights, and high beams). I did give her a written statement to fill out. While she was writing her statement she would pause and re-read what she had written. In doing so she decided that she didn't have enough detailed information to validate her concerns. She proceeded to tear the statement form into small pieces (which she took with her). I asked if she was certain that she didn't want to file a report. She stated that she would gather more information and come back to file a report when she felt there was enough information.

I proceeded to ask if by chance she is a good driver that obeys the speed limit and whether that could be why people are rushing up behind her. She stated that she "values her good driving record" and believes that could be part of what's happening. I advised that as she is gathering information that we will need a description of each vehicle, driver and plate with the state as well as when and where the incidents occur in order to help her. I also mentioned the possibility that she will notice the same plates around her if she travels the same route at roughly the same times, that I do when I travel daily routes and I call them "commuter buddies". She decided that she will keep a log of only those cars that are aggressive toward her and that she sees more than a few times and will be sure to get the information that we need.

A woman came into the station stating that she picked up a stray dog. The dog was in her car but she brought in the collar which did have current tags. I contacted the owners and left a message that the dog would be at Pam Woodes Kennel. At the time this woman came in all available units were covering a 10-25 involving a motorcycle so I had her bring the dog directly to the kennel. I then called Woodes Kennel to let them know she had been here and I was sending her over. The dog is a yellow Lab named Sango. It is a neutered male and is current on rabies vaccination and town registration.

Son of owner came into NHPD at 1700 and was given a release. K-9 was confirmed to be registered.

I then contacted the key-holder and explained to them that they would need to re-secure the building and they advised that they still would not respond because they needed to come from Manchester, NH. LETTO brought in a small dog that he found on Mill Rd in the area of Pine Rd. The dog has no tags so there's no way to tell if it's registered. It is a smaller dog that had a long leash attached to its harness, so it is likely that the dog broke free of whatever it was attached to. The dog also had bright pink toenails. The dog was taken to Wood's Kennel. Nutton came to the station to claim her dog. She's a new resident and has only been in town a week. The dog is not registered. She was advised to get the dog registered this week and provide this information to the police department.

While monitoring traffic on Lafayette Road, I ran a license plate using the SPOTS system. The vehicle was occupied by a lone male subject. The check indicated that the vehicle's registered owner was a valid operator. However, the system also indicated that the operator had the same date of birth of a female subject who was currently out on probation/parole in The State of Florida. I attempted to contact the FL Probation/Parole Office using the phone number provided and was informed that the number is no longer in service.

Last week a party mentioned to me they had observed what appeared to be a police cruiser with Florida plates that has been parked at the Slumber Manor Motel quite often. Upon driving by today I observed the vehicle and it does have an appearance of a cruiser by having a spotlight and long antenna. The plate was not a government plate, and it came back to a party that I am familiar with. Negative NCIC. I did note that the registration expired 05/30/11.

Location/Address: AREA OF RUNNYMEAD - ATLANTIC AVE
An elderly woman came into the lobby to report a suspicious person she encountered on Tuesday afternoon at 1420-1430. She stated that she was traveling South on Atlantic Ave leaving a friend's house to go to Rye. In the area of Runnymede she witnessed a person dressed in a "rubber" suit standing very close to the travel portion of the roadway. She described the person as "very skinny" and couldn't tell from the build if it was a male or female. She described the clothing as "what surfers wear", possibly a wet suit that came all the way up over the head, fully covering the body. She explained that the person was just standing there, "lurking in the shadows" with a headset on and holding a "recording device". She stated that she was unsure if the individual was taking pictures, recording license plates, or something else suspicious. It unnerved her so much that she drove back to the area approximately 40 minutes later (around 1510) but the person was gone. She decided that she needed to report it because she still felt uncomfortable with what she saw and said several times that it was "very creepy". I gave her contact information to reach an officer if she happens to see this person again.
